

Pictures:

Brigadier Claude Nicholson.

Lieut.-Colonel Euan Miller.

Lieut.-Colonel Chandos Hoskyns.

Lieut.-Colonel J.A.M. Ellison-Macartney.

Major Alexander Allan.

Lieut.-Colonel R.C. Keller.

Lieut.-Colonel R.M. Goldney.

Capitaine de Frégate Carlos de Lambertye.

André Gershell.

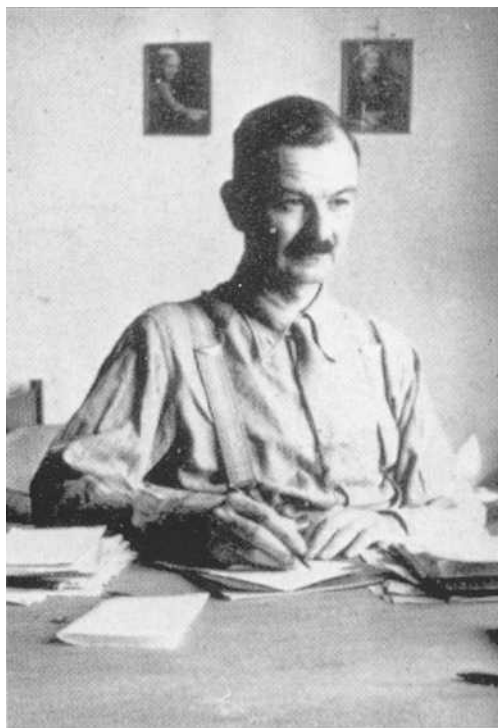

Colonel-General Heinz Guderian.

Major-General Ferdinand Schaal, Commander Tenth Panzer Division.

Enseigne de Vaisseau Georges Wiart at Bastion I.

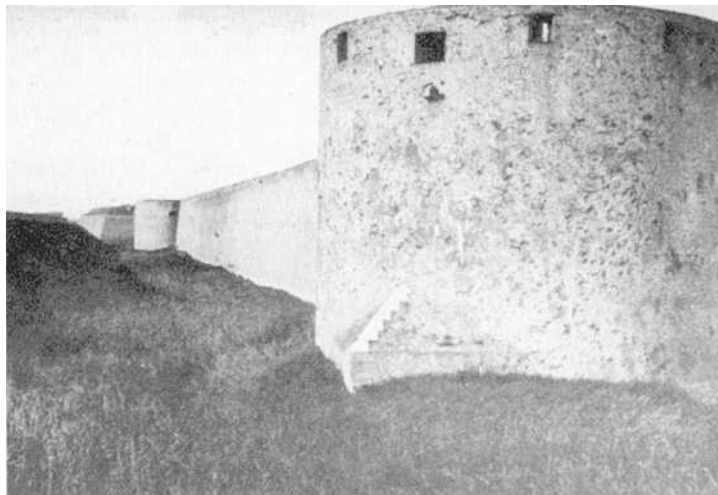

Brigadier Nicholson in a prisoner-of-war camp.

The harbour from Calais-Nord before World War II.

Calais-Nord after the battle.

The west side of the Citadel before the battle.

The tunnel under Bastion I, today.

The Bassin des Chasses de l'Est, today.

Boulevard Léon Gambetta, today.

Fort Nieulay, today.

The Hôpital Militaire after the battle.

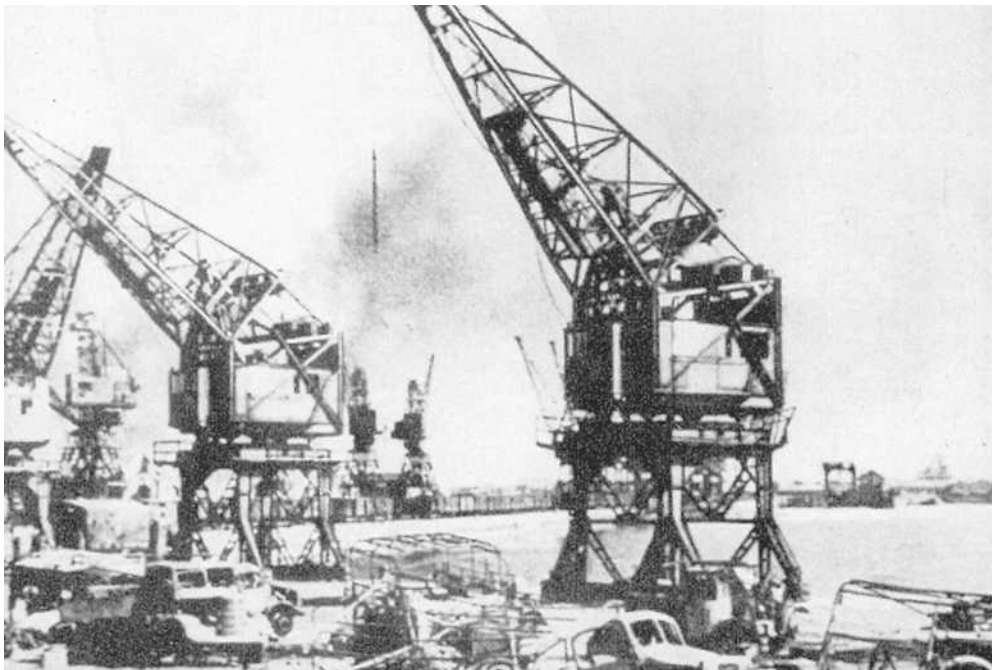

Pont Georges Cinq, today.

Pont Freycinet, today.

Calais from a German aircraft during the bombardment.

The Bassin Carnot after the battle.

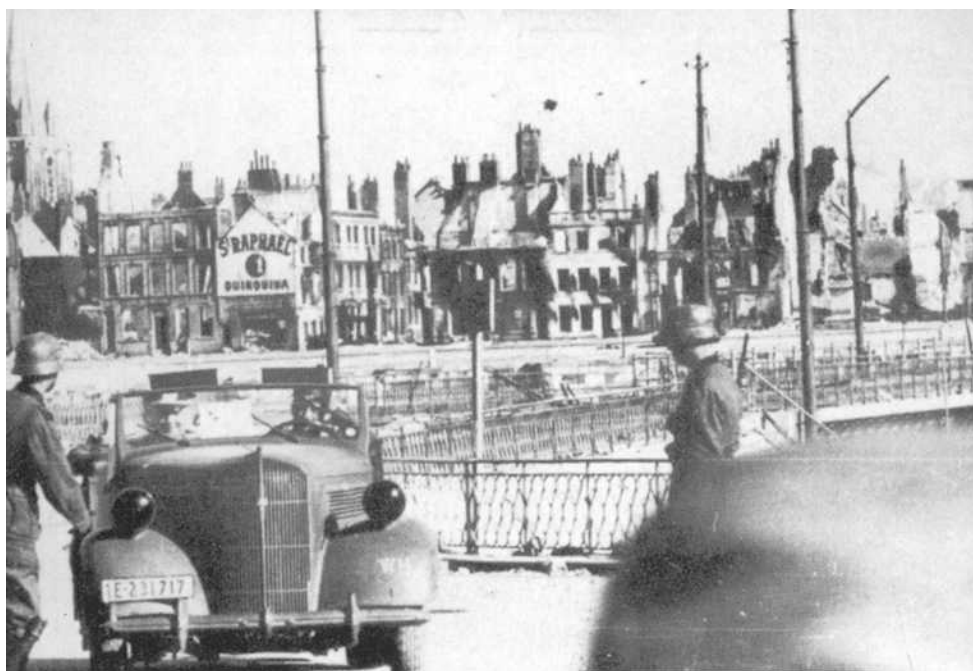

Street scene after the battle.

Calais-Nord looking towards the clock tower, after the battle.

Corner of Rue Edison, 1940.

German troops in Calais, after the battle.

French and British prisoners-of-war.

British dead at a road-block in Calais.

British graves in the Citadel.
